18 Plaintiff, a California state prisoner and frequent litigant in this Court, has 19 filed a pro se civil rights complaint pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983.<sup>1</sup> He seeks to 20 proceed in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915.

21
22 DISCUSSION

23 A. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g)

24 The Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (“PLRA”) was enacted, and 25 became effective, on April 26, 1996. It provides that a prisoner may not bring a civil

27 <sup>1</sup> Plaintiff has filed over eighty complaints in pro se in this Court since 2004
28 to the date of this order, each time filing an application to proceed in forma pauperis.

1 action in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915 “if the prisoner has, on 3 or more
2 prior occasions, while incarcerated or detained in any facility, brought an action or
3 appeal in a court of the United States that was dismissed on the grounds that it is
4 frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted,
5 unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.” 28 U.S.C.
6 § 1915(g). Section 1915(g) requires that this Court consider prisoner actions
7 dismissed before, as well as after, the statute’s 1996 enactment. Tierney v. Kupers,
8 128 F.3d 1310, 1311-12 (9th Cir. 1997). And as the text of § 1915(g) makes clear,
9 the court may count as strikes dismissals of district court cases as well as dismissals
10 of appeals. See Rodriguez v. Cook, 169 F.3d 1176, 1178 (9th Cir. 1999) (prisoner
11 does not get three frivolous claims and three frivolous appeals before being barred 12 by § 1915(g)).

13 The Ninth Circuit in Andrews v. King, 398 F.3d 1113, 1120 (9th Cir. 2005)
14 (“Andrews I”), implicitly allowed the district court to raise the § 1915(g) problem
15 sua sponte, but required the district court to notify the plaintiff of the earlier
16 dismissals it considers to support a § 1915(g) dismissal and allow the plaintiff an 17 opportunity to be heard on the matter before dismissing the action. See id. at 1120.
18 Plaintiff must show why a prior dismissal should not count as a strike. Id. The 19 prisoner must be given notice of the potential disqualification under § 1915(g) and 20 plaintiff bears the ultimate burden of persuasion that § 1915(g) does not bar pauper
21 status for him. Id.

22 1. Prior “Strikes”

23 Plaintiff has had three or more prisoner actions/appeals dismissed by a
24 federal court on the grounds that they are frivolous, malicious, or fail to state a claim
25 upon which relief may be granted: (1) Weaver v. Pelican Bay State Prison, No. C
26 04-3077 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. May 18, 2005) (civil rights action dismissed for failure
27 to state a claim upon which relief may be granted); (2) Weaver v. Nimrod, No. C 04-
28 3154 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. Dec. 14, 2004) (same); (3) Weaver v. Pelican Bay State

1       Prison Mail Room, No. C 04-4784 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. Jan. 5, 2005) (same); (4)
 2       Weaver v. Daniel, No. C 05-1373 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. May 9, 2005) (same); and (5)
 3       Weaver v. Monterio, et al., No. 05-0166 RSWL (FMO) (C.D. Cal. Nov. 21, 2005)
 4       (same).

5           In accordance with Andrews I, plaintiff was notified by this Court on at least 6       eighteen separate cases of the same cases cited above that supported a § 1915(g)
 7       dismissal, and in each case plaintiff was afforded an opportunity to show why the 8       prior dismissals should not count as strikes. See e.g., Weaver v. Whiteford, No. C
 9       04-03894 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. Sept. 1, 2006), Weaver v. Pelican Bay State Prison,
 10      No. C 05-00632 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. July 27, 2007), Weaver v. Pelican Bay State
 11      Prison, No. C 05-02441 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. Dec. 27, 2005), Weaver v. Pelican Bay
 12      State Prison Mail Room, No. C 06-02500 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. Sept. 8, 2006), and 13      Weaver v. Diaz, No. C 07-00162 JW (PR) (N.D. Cal. July 27, 2007). In each case,
 14      plaintiff failed to attack the validity of the strikes under 1915(g), and those eighteen
 15      complaints were ultimately dismissed under § 1915(g).

16           Plaintiff has been already been given numerous opportunities to attack the 17       validity of the prior strikes, and he will not in this action be given yet another
 18       opportunity to respond in an attempt to delay dismissal pursuant to § 1915(g).<sup>2</sup> The 19       Court deems the validity of the prior strikes undisputed. Therefore, plaintiff must 20       show on the face of his complaint that he is in imminent danger of serious physical 21       injury in order to proceed under § 1915(g).

22           2.       Imminent Danger of Serious Physical Injury

23           Because plaintiff has had three or more prisoner actions/appeals
 24       dismissed by a federal court on the grounds that they are frivolous, malicious, or fail

26           <sup>2</sup> The Court finds notable one federal court of appeals which has held that 27       “[a]n effort to bamboozle the court by seeking permission to proceed in forma
 28       pauperis after a federal judge has held that § 1915(g) applies to a particular litigant will lead to immediate termination of the suit.” Sloan v. Lesla, 181 F.3d 857, 859 (7th Cir. 1999).

1 to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, plaintiff may proceed in forma
2 pauperis in this action only if he is seeking relief from a danger of serious physical
3 injury that is “imminent” at the time of filing. See Abdul-Akbar v. McKelvie, 239
4 F.3d 307, 312 (3d Cir. 2001) (en banc); Medberry v. Butler, 185 F.3d 1189, 1192-
5 93 (11th Cir. 1999); Ashley v. Dilworth, 147 F.3d 715, 717 (8th Cir. 1998); Banos v.
6 O’Guin, 144 F.3d 883, 885 (5th Cir. 1998). The plain language of the imminent
7 danger clause in § 1915(g) indicates that “imminent danger” is to be assessed at the 8 time of filing of the complaint. See Andrews v. Cervantes, 493 F.3d 1047, 1053
9 (9th Cir. 2007) (“Andrews II”). The conditions that existed at some earlier or later
10 time are not relevant. See id.; see id. at 1053 n.5 (post-filing transfer of prisoner out 11 of the prison at which danger allegedly existed may have made moot his request for 12 injunctive relief against the alleged danger, but it does not affect the § 1915(g)
13 analysis).

14 Once the prisoner “satisfies the exception to the three-strikes rule and 15 otherwise qualifies for IFP status, the district court must docket the entire complaint
16 and resolve all of its claims, without requiring the upfront payment of the filing fee.”
17 Id. at 1054. If any claim alleges an imminent danger at the time of filing, the whole
18 complaint can go forward; the court should not do a claim-by-claim analysis,
19 dismissing those claims as to which there is no imminent danger alleged. See id. at 20 1055. A district court’s determination that plaintiff has alleged satisfactorily that he 21 is in imminent danger of serious physical injury does not preclude defendants from 22 later challenging plaintiff’s imminent danger allegations in a motion for summary
23 judgment, however. Gibbs v. Cross, 160 F.3d 962, 967 n.8 (3d Cir. 1998)
24 (acknowledging that imminent danger allegations may be challenged after initial 25 grant of leave to proceed in forma pauperis).

26 The court “should not make an overly detailed inquiry into whether the 27 allegations qualify for the exception.” Andrews II, 493 F.3d at 1055. It is sufficient 28 if the complaint “makes a plausible allegation that the prisoner faced ‘imminent danger of serious physical injury' at the time of filing." Id.; see, e.g., id. at 1055 (allegation that plaintiff is at risk of contracting HIV or hepatitis C was sufficient to bring his complaint within the imminent danger exception); id. at 1057 ("prisoner who alleges that prison officials continue with a practice that has injured him or others similarly situated in the past will satisfy the 'ongoing danger' standard and meet the imminence prong of the three-strikes exception" even if prisoner had already contracted a contagious disease and complained of being housed near prisoners with contagious diseases); cf. Ashley, 147 F.3d at 717 (plaintiff sufficiently alleged ongoing danger where he had repeatedly been housed near enemies, despite his protests, and where he filed his complaint very shortly after being attacked by an enemy); Abdul-Akbar, 239 F.3d at 315 n.1 (while declining to reach question of whether "imminent danger" encompasses an ongoing danger of serious physical injury, noting that the plaintiff's allegations of past acts of physical harassment were not sufficiently specific or related to support an inference of an ongoing danger); Medberry, 185 F.3d at 1193 (no ongoing danger where plaintiff had been placed in administrative segregation following physical assaults by fellow inmates and before he filed his complaint).

Plaintiff states his claims in a single paragraph as follows: Doing mail pick up Correctional Officer Rich Creek kicked the door, plaintiff['s] cell door[,] with a loud bang because of fil[]ing true aligation [sic] against this correctional officer. He just keep on har[]assing plaintiff. There was no reason for correctional officer to kick plaintiff['s] door with a loud bang during mail pick up. The defendant showed deliberate indifference under the Eight[h] Amendment that constitute[s] cruel [and] unusual punishment." (Compl. at 3.) Nowhere in the complaint does plaintiff make any allegation that he is in imminent danger of serious physical injury. Accordingly, plaintiff is not entitled to the imminent danger exception of § 1915(g) to avoid dismissal of the instant complaint without the full payment of the filing fee.

CONCLUSION

Because plaintiff has had three or more prior dismissals and is not under imminent danger of serious physical injury, his request to proceed in forma pauperis (Docket No. 3) is DENIED pursuant to § 1915(g).
